"We disagree with Staff and the Company, however, that the additional 75 applications should be funded at $2.00 per watt. TEP exhausted its residential DG budget at the $2.00 per watt level. We do not believe it would be a wise use of ratepayer money to supplement the residential DG budget without reducing the incentive level. Instead, we believe TEP should offer a reduced incentive of $1.45 per watt to all 105 applications that it received on September 12, 2011, instead of limiting it to the first 75 applications it received on September 12th. Reducing the incentive to $1.45 per watt will accommodate the additional 30 applications TEP received on September 12 without significantly increasing the $1.6 million currently allocated towards processing the 75 applications. This will also benefit TEP's ratepayers by deploying more solar for the same amount of money."
